Attribute Importance and Performance

Drivers Analysis Details

Our proprietary quantitative driver analysis model, Ipsos BayesNet (IBN), goes beyond traditional regression analysis models to identify which variable(s), if changed, produce the greatest predicted impact on likelihood to visit/do business in Brussels.

The output from the IBN analysis:

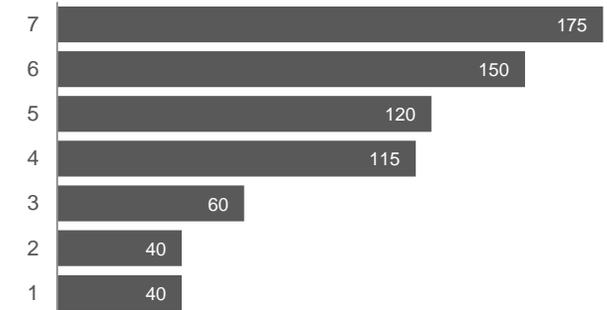

- Driver Impact Scores - How much impact each driver (attribute) has on likelihood to visit/do business in Brussels

In this analysis, we ran this statistical model to understand the drivers of likelihood to visit/do business in Brussels

For every 1-point improvement on performance, there is a corresponding increase for the attribute based on the Impact score.

Driver Impact Scores

These identify how much impact each driver will have on the dependent variable.

Quad Analysis

These charts plot the results in a traditional quadrant chart to visually represent areas of strength that should be maintained, opportunities to be capitalized upon, growth opportunities where performance should be evaluated, and lower priority areas that should be monitored but not necessarily focused on.
